POLAR BEARS

Polar bears live in Arctic cold regions in the north. You can find them in Canada, Russia, Greenland and other places.

They eat fish and bigger animals like seals. I think they are one of the most unusual bears in the world.

They have white fur, long sharp claws on their big paws, very cute cubs and they are so happy to live in the cold. Sadly, they are endangered and on the way to extinction and it is our fault! The number of polar bears is falling because of climate change and climate change is happening because we do not take care of our planet.

Polar bears spend a lot of time on icebergs, but they are melting now because of global warming and polar bears have less and less place to live. They are becoming skinny; they have fewer cubs and have troubles hunting for seals. They often starve and die of hunger.

But it is not about polar bears only, there are hundreds of other animals like them! This is a serious problem. We must save them!

THE DRAGON ISLANDS

Legend has it that a long time ago there were beautiful, colourful and powerful dragons living on three islands. But people thought it was a tale and didn't believe it; except for one person, Emily's grandmother.

3 years ago, before her parents died

Emily and her parents went to the forest. They were picking berries when they saw a dragon. It got scared and attacked them. Emily, who was not far away, heard their screams and ran towards them only to see the dragon fly away with her parents. She never forgot that day!

At present

Emily: »Oh, today is my brother and sister's birthday! I haven't got them anything, maybe I can bake them a cake.«

So, she went to the forest to pick some berries. Suddenly, she spotted a dragon! It was just gorgeous! Pretty magenta with beautiful cyan spots and a majestic light purple coat. Its eyes were shiny emerald green, but when it saw her, it took some of her berries and flew off into the sunrise.

Emily picked the berries her siblings loved so much and left. Right when she finished baking the cake, her grandmother came over and Emily told her about the beautiful dragon. Grandma murmured: »Mhmm, maybe it was a royal dragon because it's them who are the most colourful and stunning. But if you ever see it again, run away as fast as you can, they are dangerous. «

Emily thought to herself: »I don't think they are dangerous at all, they can't be if it got so scared of me.«

Emily

Princess Daisy

Daisy was thinking: »Oh, dear, that human saw me! Thank goodness I managed to take the berries for the little ones.«

And yes, Daisy can speak like the rest of the dragons, but they keep it a secret. The dragons were not able to go wherever they want without a permission of their King. Daisy got her father's permission, but she only brought food for the little dragons.

When she got back to the islands, she realised that the girl had the same energy like the humans on the island and said to herself: »What if they are somehow related to each other? No, I'm getting ahead of myself.«

She gave the food to the kids and asked the humans if they remembered anything from the past. They denied. Daisy was curious why the girl had the similar energy. So, she decided she will try to find her again and observe her secretly.

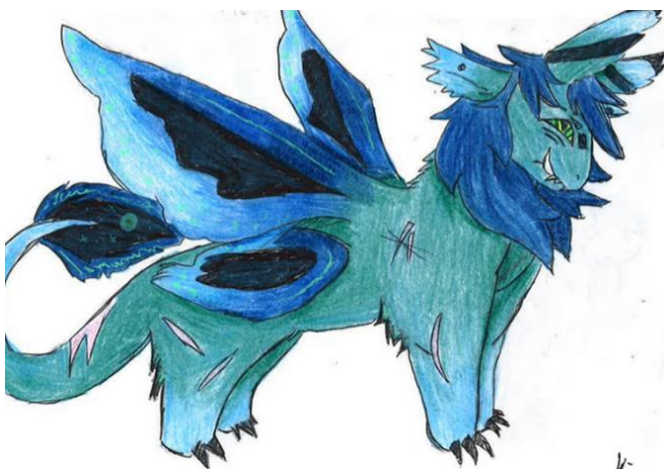

Emily: »Happy birthday, Lana and Lan, you're 8 years old, how do you feel?«

Lana&Lan smiling: »We're great!«

Emily: »I've made a cake for you and prepared some presents with grandma!«

Lana and Lan were very happy to get the cake. They made a wish when blowing out the candles. After they opened the presents, they played games together late into the night.

»Good night, Daisy,« King and Queen wished to their daughter.

Daisy fell asleep but woke up soon because she was a bit hungry. She decided to sneak out with some other dragons whom her father allowed to fly out for some fish. She waited and waited and then heard them prepare to go. That meant swimming and they were afraid to get their feathers wet. Daisy was determined to go and started swimming out. But she had to walk too because she couldn't fly with her wet wings. She returned to the forest and started eating berries. Meanwhile, her wings dried and she wanted to fly home. Then she saw a cottage where Emily lived. She just came out of it to get some fresh air. Suddenly, they were looking at each other, surprised and in complete silence.

Daisy said: « Hello, human! I am Daisy. Who are you?»

»I'm E – Emily. How come you can speak if I may ask?»

Daisy: »I don't know. I just do, and the others can speak too. Emily, do you have parents?»

Emily: »No, I don't any more. They died three years ago. Why do you ask?»

Daisy: »Well, three years ago my fellow dragon brought two people on our island. I think they might be your parents since you have the same scent and energy.«

At that moment, grandmother came to check on Emily. She was surprised to find her talking to the royal dragon.

Daisy explained everything and she agreed to let Emily go with the dragon for four days and meet her alleged parents on the island. Grandmother even prepared some food and water so they wouldn't be hungry nor thirsty. She wished them: »Be safe out there!«

It was quite a long journey and adventurous too. Finally, they reached Daisy's home. Daisy just managed to cover and thus hide Emily under her wings, when she heard King's (her father's) stern voice: »Where were you, Missy?» King was worried about his daughter and told her off. But in the end, everything turned out fine. Emily found her parents, the Royal Kingdom of Dragons released them, Daisy took them home. Since then, the human and the dragon family have lived happily ever after and been best friends!

So, from the first floor, you would come to the second where it would be my room, my sister's room and a large bedroom for my parents. Next to my room, there would also be my grandmother's room. Right next to it would be a terrace. Just like on the first floor, there would also be a bathroom and a toilet on the second floor.

In the attic, there would be things that may already be old and we wouldn't use them as much as before.

Outside, of course, we would have a large yard where we could rest and have fun during our free time. Outside, we would also have a large garage in which the car and father's tools would be kept.

TO TRAVEL OR NOT TO TRAVEL

People travel for many different reasons: to relax, to have fun, to see the attractions, to visit carnivals, festivals, museums or sport events. Some people go chilling, some go hiking, skiing or snowboarding, some people like to travel in summer, the others prefer winter season.

My dream travel is to go to Hawaii with my family. I would like to spend at least a month here, because I love the seaside so much! I would go fishing, snorkelling and above all, I would love to go swimming with sharks!

I would also hike a lot. I'd also love to learn about the Hawaiian culture, history and customs. The islands are volcanic so I'd try to hike up the volcanoes; I think that would be amazing. I would visit the zoo and see many different animals. I would go spear fishing and try to spear big fish. I would also go on boat rides and try windsurfing too. And we would go to luxurious restaurants to eat and relax after adventures!

Travelling expands our horizons: we see other countries, even continents, we learn about people's customs, languages, art and history. We see many plants and animal species we have not seen and known about before. We make friends with people and realize how beautiful the world is!

Bastian Jereb, 8.B

WHY DO PEOPLE TRAVEL?

People travel for many different reasons, from looking for a job, meeting new people to exploring the world around you, learning about different cultures and way more. My reason to travel is to make new memories exploring places in various parts of the world. I would love to visit Bora, Canary Islands or Hawaii to see their beautiful beaches, photogenic nature, weather, sunsets and clean sea. I know these are the most common travelling destinations but I think they are worth the hype. If I had the opportunity, I'd travel with my family or my best friends. There we'd stay for a week or longer and explore. The easiest and the fastest way to get there would be a plane. There I would find out and learn about people's way of life, their language and culture in general. This is important because it broadens our horizons and makes you understand the world better. We would spend most of the time on the beach, have late night walks and night swims. We'd also explore important sites, castles, churches and the like, we'd snorkel, eat ice cream and involve in every single fun activity possible. If I get the opportunity, I will grab it and visit all those amazing places!

Žana Žagar, 8.B

MY SUMMER HOLIDAY

I spent my holiday in Malta. In Malta, it was very hot and sunny. In the summer, the temperature can get as high as 46 degrees C. In the winter, it can go to as low as 6 degrees C. I had a very good time.

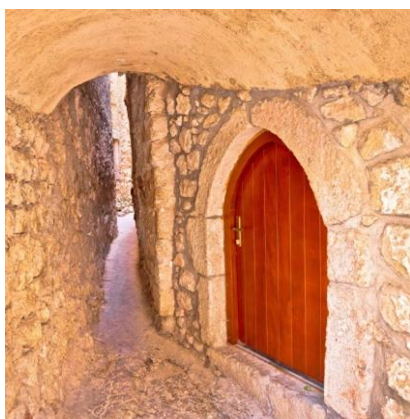

I went snorkelling and found a lot of clams and crabs. My favourite beaches were Ghadira and Paradise bay. One time, I went to Paradise bay and that day it was very windy so the waves were as tall as 2 metres. It was very fun. I also went to Gozo Island where I checked out the very tall cliffs which are 200 metres tall. And I also went to Dwejra where my dad went scuba diving. But I didn't make any friends since I was with my parents all the time. I didn't send any postcards.

All in all, I had a very good time in Malta and I wouldn't change anything with my time being there.

HOW I SPENT A WEEK OFF SCHOOL

We spent the autumn break on a Croatian island of Krk in the northern Adriatic Sea. The weather was not very nice; it was windy, at times it blew really hard, up to 100kms/h as we heard on TV. On the first day, we visited the charming town Vrbnik and saw the narrowest street in the world. The next day we went for a walk around Malinska. The sea was really cold so we went swimming to the pool. We stayed in a camp and had a good time. I wish my holiday had lasted longer 😊

Nik Noč, 8.B

THIS YEAR'S SCHOOL CAMP

This year's school camp took place at Rakov Škocjan. It is located in a beautiful karst valley not far from Cerknica.

On Monday, after we had arrived there by bus, we first went on a hike to the tunnels dug by Italian soldiers after WWI when the region was under Italian occupation, and then on a night walk in complete dark. The next day we walked to the intermittent Lake Cerknica. After lunch we set up a camera to record the wildlife there and visited some beautiful karst caves. Every day we had enough time to play various social games; I liked the one of guessing the objects by touch because we were blindfolded. One day we went canoeing and had a really great time. There was a lot of fun also later on in the evening by the campfire spending time with schoolmates and teachers. On the last day, Friday, our teams competed in orienteering. That was great fun too! And we were all fascinated by the scenes of wildlife recorded on the camera we had set up a couple of days before.

The school camp blew my expectations. It was great and I wish it had lasted longer!

BUBBA AND LOCH NESS MONSTER

Once upon a time, a bear named Bubba went fishing in the Loch Ness. Bubba was a curious bear who loved to explore new places and try new things. He had heard rumours about Loch Ness Monster, and he was determined to see if they were true.

Bubba arrived at the Loch early in the morning, just as the sun was rising. He set up his fishing rod and cast his line into the water. He waited patiently for few minutes but nothing happened. Just as he was about to give up, he felt a tug on his line. He reeled it in slowly, not knowing what to expect.

As he pulled the line closer to shore, he saw that he had caught something big. Really big!!!

Bubba's heart raced as he realized that he had caught the Loch Ness monster. He couldn't believe his luck.

Bubba was ecstatic and couldn't wait to show off his catch to his friends. He carefully wrapped the giant monster in a blanket and carried it back to his cave. However, when he realized that the monster was too big for him to carry it on his own. He thought long and hard about what to do, and finally came up with a plan...

He called all of his bear friends and together they carried the monster back to the lake. It was a long and difficult journey, but they were determined to release the monster back into the water. When they finally arrived at the shore, they gently placed the monster back into the water and watched as it swam away.

Bubba and his friends were overjoyed! They had caught the Loch Ness Monster and released it back into the wild. From that day on, Bubba was known as the bear who caught the Loch Ness Monster. He and his friends would often sit by the shore of the lake and tell stories about their adventure.

As the years went by, Bubba grew old and eventually passed away. But his legacy lived on. The story of the bear that caught the Loch Ness Monster was passed from generation to generation, and it became a legend of the bear community

MY NIGHTMARE

In my dream, I was on a hike in the forest with my sister. We were hiking up big hills and climbing over rocks.

Through our hike we noticed that we barely had any water left so we decided to go to the river to get some.

As we were walking there, I suggested to take a small break to rest. We were sitting on the ground when I suddenly noticed a bear coming towards us. We quickly got up and started running in the opposite direction. We were running around the forest when we noticed that my sister wasn't by my side anymore, but the bear was still after me. It banished me to the edge of a cliff. It was about to attack me when I stumbled on a rock and I had to catch myself on a part of it in order not to fall off the cliff, meanwhile the bear left. I was hanging there for a while, while trying to climb up when my sister came and tried to pull me up.

My hand slipped and I started falling. That's how my dream ended.

A SPOOKY STORY

Once upon a time, in a small town like Jesenice, there was an old, abandoned house. The legend had it that anyone who entered the house would never come out the same. One brave soul named Marko, decided to investigate. As he stepped inside, the doors slammed shut behind him, trapping him inside.

The house seemed to come alive with scary whispers and creaking floorboards.

Marko's heart raced as he tried to find a way out.

Suddenly, a ghost figure appeared, floating towards him.

Marko's scream echoed through the house as the ghostly figure vanished, and the door swung open.

Marko ran out, vowing never to return. To this day, the old house has remained a haunting mystery. Spooky, right?

HALLOWEEN – THE STORY CONTINUES

The door creaked open and we went inside, sat down and started to eat a chocolate bar when we heard a strange noise. We all screamed in fear and ran down the hall. After we calmed down, we started looking around the house to see if it was still safe to stay there overnight.

There were a lot of cobwebs. A big scary spider fell off the web, right on my face. I gasped loudly, causing someone to hear us. We heard footsteps, so we hid under the bed. We heard someone slowly walking around the bed. I tried really hard not to breathe loudly. We were read and scared. After the mysterious person walked around the room, he finally decided to leave. We were listening closely, as we finally heard the front door closing. As we were crawling out of the bed, we heard a loud slam in another room.

We immediately started running out of the house into the deep forest. Since it was raining, everything was slippery, so we all slipped to the ground. There were people surrounding us. I saw a light and fell unconscious. I woke up in my bed. My mom was sitting beside me. She was very happy to see me. I asked her what happened so she explained that both of my friends' and my parents were worried since we didn't come home so they called the cops. They asked a few houses about us and they told them where we went. They followed our footsteps in the mud, and looked for us in the abandoned house.

It was hard to find us, since we were hiding. But when they did, we started running away. When we fell on the ground unconscious, they took us and brought us home.

I was very happy that all of that was over. I called my friends to make sure they were okay, as I watched the dawn with my mother.

Jackson ran to find the wolf.

They built a new house. They had five children. But they died because they were too old.

ONE OF THOSE DAYS

I had a bad day on a Friday some time ago. It was going fine until the last lesson at school when I got called to be asked for a grade. Since I didn't study, I got an F. I wasn't used to getting a failing grade, so I got sad.

When I came home from school, my sister and I were having a big argument, which lasted all day long. I also had some schoolwork to finish.

I was doing for quite some time when I remembered that I also had to study afterwards. All that work made me tired. I decided to take a break and watch a movie with snacks. I was preparing myself a snack when I got on a chair to reach something, fell off and hurt myself. Luckily, I didn't injure myself badly, so I was alright not too long after that.

After I was done, I finally found a good movie. I was watching the movie when suddenly my mom joined me. We even made popcorn and I was already happier.

At 11 pm I finally got to bed and made up with my sister the following morning.

ADVERTISEMENTS

I'm going to talk about bubble body wash. It's a pink rose scented foam used for washing your body. I chose this product because I liked the idea of being able to use it myself. I gave it a name bubble paradise because it bubbles when used. Its slogan is "if you bought bubbles for fun, you have won!" because it tells you that this product is worth your money. I would package it in a long, tall blue spray bottle with a pink cap and a white label on it, with colorful letters which spell out "bubble paradise" so it would stand out from other products and draw people's attention. I think that this product is more likely for younger girls, who wouldn't mind the colorful packaging or the flower scent. I would advertise it in magazines, so the parents reading them would see it and buy it for their children. I would buy advertising time in between cartoons so kids would see the ad and ask their parents for it. In my product's commercial there's a mother telling the two of her daughters to stop watching TV, go take a bath and go to bed. The kids aren't listening to her so she fills up the bathtub with foam. Her daughters come running to the bathroom, jumping and playing in foam and bubbles. Meanwhile their mother is telling the viewers where and for what price the product can be bought. There's a whistled song playing in the background the whole time. I think kids would like this commercial because they'd want to recreate the bathtub scene.

ARTIFICIAL INTELLIGENCE IN EDUCATION

AI (artificial intelligence) is a system where you write a question and it answers using data it finds through the Internet.

The latest AI Chat GPT has taken the Internet by storm as it is currently the best artificial intelligence to this date. People are using it for work, school, cooking, and so on. AI is usually hated in school by the teachers, as it allows students to fake their essays, for example this text I'm writing could be made by AI (but it isn't, of course). Before this technology was born learning was complicated and hard. You had to come up with ideas for your essays, and if you didn't know anything, you could better pray it wasn't on the test. But on the other hand, if we go a few years into the future, we can see that everything is so simple! If you want an essay about, let's say ...cars, you can just write to Chat GPT: "Hey GPT, can you write me a 400-word-essay about cars?" it will write it in mere seconds. Oh, and if you want to learn what the most popular car brand is, you just have to ask, no worrying about that test! In the future, I think that it is definitely going to take the role of teachers.

All in all, I think AI will be very helpful but also "dangerous" for us. But for now, I like it.

Patrik Zver, 8.A

In our everyday life, we use Chat GPT often. Some students use it to make essays or compositions. People also use Chat GPT or artificial intelligence to learn languages or things for school subjects.

In the past people would go to a library and borrow books to learn. In the current time, we can find multiple guides or tutorials on how to understand while we are learning. AI can also give us a straight forward answer to our question.

I think in the future teaching will change a lot. Normal teachers may lose their jobs because of AI. I also think we will have more online classes and pre-ordered school lessons. I also think many other people will lose their jobs, like builders, accountants and more.

Taid Kananović, 8.C

AI is something very helpful in these days. It helps us with a lot of presentations, including social and school, etc. But there are always bad points, but this time for people. AI will be able to take away from humans a lot of jobs. This will make things more complicated, and it will be harder to get a job, that pays you good.

Before the Internet, people could stay just from books from libraries. Today we can only type our question on the Internet and we get it immediately. Nowadays, AI is highly developed that you can ask it for explanations and it will teach you.

AI is said teachers will be mostly replaced with AI, because it will be just way easier. Maybe we will start home studying, with a home teacher Chat GPT. In the future, we will exactly start having robot teachers with their own thoughts. I think AI will take over a lot of things, including education.

THE LIMITS OF MY LANGUAGE ARE THE LIMITS OF MY WORLD

For me, the quote »The limits of my language are the limits of my world« means that if you don't know many languages, you can't really do much around the world because communication is important for many things as for jobs, travelling or even living somewhere. I think so, because it's hard to live in a country that you don't know the language of. When I was in Bulgaria, I couldn't ask for directions, or where the shopping centre is, and it was hard to do anything. Also, when I was in Serbia, I couldn't order a drink, because the waiter couldn't understand me.

When I tried to learn French, it was very hard. It's really different from the Slovenian language. I lost the will of learning it, after a few days, because it was just too hard for me. Then I wanted to learn Italian, and I did learn a little, but then I gave up again. I can also speak Russian, but I can't really write in Russian, so I will start practising.

I don't really have an image of how people will learn languages in the future. Maybe it will be the same as today, or they will have machines to do it. There could be machines, that you would put on your head and you will instantly know the language. But that would be far away in the future from now. Or maybe they will have apps as we do now. We don't know for certain.

Maša Ečimović, 9.C

In today's world there is a lot of problems, like racism. We all need to respect all kinds of humans. We are all the same on the inside. But a lot of people don't understand that.

Racism has been on the Earth for a very long time. It is a very big problem. Some people thought and they still think that they are better than others. But we are all the same on the inside. Only about a 100 years ago, the black people didn't get rights. Back then they could not walk on a street, they could not get a good job.

I think this all need to be over, and we all need to be friends. We need to respect everybody the same. No matter what colour they are.

The MAGIC of COMMUNICATION

People in the past did have phones, but they were stationary, not smart like today. The technology has changed and developed dramatically, so nowadays most teenagers have smart phones, tablets, laptops, etc.

I myself own a smart phone and a laptop. My generation mostly communicates over social media. Snapchat and Instagram are the most popular apps for texting and posting pictures, while TikTok is for posting, watching and sending short videos of any kind. But we do not only communicate by texting. We also call each other and talk for hours, sometimes on FaceTime. We arrange for the hang out spot by phone and then meet at the location.

Many teenagers are getting seriously addicted to smart devices and social media. They spend hours and hours daily on their phones instead of studying, reading or being outdoors.

Our parents and older generations communicated by letters, phones or cell phones and most of the times in person.

I'm addicted to my phone; it would be very hard for me to be without it. And yet I think it would be a lot better if we didn't have them.

Ema Kepic, 9.C

PROS AND CONS OF HAVING A SMART PHONE

In my opinion, a smart phone is a very good and useful device. If we and our friends have it, we can communicate easily. Almost everybody uses it. It is very useful because we can search for information we do not know and it can help us study too. But some people use phones excessively. They use them when they walk, cook, hang out with their friends, all the time. They cannot even sleep or eat without them. If you want, you can play games on the phone and follow social media. I have a smart phone, but I do not spend too much time on it. I prefer to go out with my friends, talk to them in person, go for a walk, be outdoors, even help my mum cook or work around the house.

Alena Japić, 9.C

I think a smart phone is a great device, but only in some ways. It is great for communication and research. You can play games on it and engage in social media. In normal proportions it is okay to be on your phone, but it might become very addictive. Many people spend way too much time on their phones and this is really unhealthy. I would even say there are more cons than pros. Before, kids used to play outdoors, now they are stuck indoors glued to their phones. As many researches have shown, smart phones are bad for your sight and brain too.

I do not spend that much time on my phone because I know it is not healthy for me. And there are so many more fun things to do!

Maša Ečimović, 9.C

SMART PHONES

Having a smart phone might as well be a distraction, but there are still several advantages about having it. Just think about the convenience smart phones offer in terms of staying connected to our loved ones, easy access to information and camera always at hand. Without smart phones life might be quieter, less distracted and more in person, people would be far less stressed and more social.

However, we would definitely miss information, modern convenience and instant communication. In my opinion, we would live better without them, because we would spend more time with family and friends not being glued to our phones. A lot of teenagers also feel insecure and bad about themselves because of influencers on social media who make a living from advertising or trying to persuade young people into certain consumer mindsets. Some applications used by kids are unsafe not only because they are constantly collecting personal data but also dangerous, because they offer weird, even dangerous challenges which are often accepted. And even more, people can get seriously addicted to their phones, which has a devastating effect on their life. I do not spend that much time on my phone because I dedicate a lot of it to my hobbies. Sometimes I wish I could set the time back to when people did not have any kind of technology. People were friendlier, more connected and solidary, and love was real and not phoney back then!

Dear Galaxy,

I'm writing from the war zone on Earth. We are winning. We have captured over a hundred humans today.

Every day we go out of area 55 and capture humans. We do not kill them but ship them to the Moon. Humans are very weird creatures. They eat the food we feed our cyber dogs with.

Tomorrow we are going on our last mission. We are taking the Earth to another solar system.

See you soon.

What is Haiku?

- Haiku is a traditional Japanese poem. It has three lines. The lines do not rhyme. The pattern is 5-7-5.
- It is usually related to nature or a season of the year. Haiku should capture a single moment in time or nature and strike an image.
